

CALL FOR PAPERS

ANGLO-GERMAN LINGUISTIC RELATIONS

A conference at Queen Mary, University of London

under the auspices of the Centre for Anglo-German Cultural Relations

9.-10. November 2007

It is intended that this conference will be wide-reaching in the themes covered and attract participants with a broad range of interests within English and German linguistic studies. Proposals are requested for papers examining points at which England and Germany interact or have interacted in the past in matters of language or language and culture. It is envisaged that topics could include:

- Anglo-German linguistic contacts
- Purism
- The language of wartime propagandas
- Political and media discourses involving the Other
- The Englandbild in Germany / the Deutschlandbild in England
- Cultural developments influenced by the Other, e.g. printing, translation, lexicography, pedagogy, codification

Keynote speakers will include: Professor Andreas Musolff (University of Durham)

Conference proceedings will be published.

Organisers: Dr Felicity Rash and Dr Falco Pfalzgraf

Please send expressions of interest a.s.a.p. and abstracts of c. 200 words by 30. September 2006 to:

Dr Felicity Rash
School of Modern Languages
Queen Mary, University of London
Mile End, London E1 4NSA
f.j.rash@qmul.ac.uk

To download a PDF version of this call for papers, please go to:
<http://www.modern-languages.qmul.ac.uk/german/events/aglr2007.htm>

---

Dr. Falco Pfalzgraf
Language Studies Co-ordinator
& Year-Abroad Co-ordinator
Department of German
Queen Mary, University of London
Arts Building, Mile End Road
LONDON E1 4NS
Tel. (+44) 020-7882.3635
Fax. (+44) 020-8980.5400
Email: f.pfalzgraf@qmul.ac.uk

